He Proposes a Joint Committee For Financial Matters.

SENATOR STEWART BACKS SILVER.

He Attacks Mr. Sherman's Honesty of Purpose in Favoring Repeal of His Law. The Ways and Means Committee Has Another Hearing.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 6 .- Mr. Morgan (Dem., Ala.) introduced a concurrent resolution in the senate for the appointment of a joint committee of the two houses, seven senators and seven representatives. These together are to constitute a joint select committee on finance. The chairman is to be chosen by the committee by ballot. It is to hold its sessions in the Capitol or in such other places as the majority may direct, with power to hear witnesses and to employ stenographers. Eleven members are to constitute a quorum to do business. The committee is to examine into the financial and monetary condition of the government and people of the United States. The committee is to examine into these subjects and to report upon the full or partial demonetization of legal tender silver coins and the ratio which should be established between them and gold coins; the re-vision of laws relating to legal tender, so as to prevent unjust discrimination in the several kinds of money; the re-peal of the 10 per cent tax on the issue of state banks: the actual causes of the present embarrassed condition of the people and of the national banks, and what further legislation is necessary to prevent national banks from abusing their powers under the law. The joint committee may appoint sub-committees of not less than four members, three to constitute a quorum, which may sit in any place in the United States and take testimony. The resolution, at Mr. Morgan's request, laid on the table, to be called up by him later.

Mr. Stewart (Rep., Nev.) addressed the senate in opposition to the repeal. He began his speech with a history of the closing of the European and American mints to the free and unlimited coinage of silver; of the conference held at Paris to consider the unification of coins, weights and measures, at which conference the United States was represented by Samuel B. Ruggles, and of the demonetization act of 1873. He intimated that Mr. Sherman's vote against that bill was because he knew it would pass, and wanted to conceal from the senate a knowledge of the fact that it omitted the silver dollar from the list of coins. He claimed to have shown that the leading members of the two houses, who were present during the consideration of the bill, were ignorant of the fact that the silver dollar was omitted in the codification of the mint laws. No reference had been made in the debate either to the gold standard or to the omission of the silver dollar from the list. The important question, however, was: Had the egislation been demanded or approve by the American people? It certainly had not been. The people had known nothing of it. It had not been discussed in any political campaign. It had not been published or commented upon in any of the great dailies. It had remained a profound secret so far as the masses of the people were con cerned for more than two years, and had not become known until the mints of the Latin union were closed silver and until the price of silver de clined in the markets of the world.

Coming to the platforms of the Republican and Democrat parties on the subject of silver, Mr. Stewart declared that he saw no difference in the position of the two and could trust neither. The bankers' panic, he said, had been inaugurated to force congress to de-monetize silver. The co-operation of Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Cleveland was to degrade silver, the former by sus-pending coinage in India and the latter by refusing to obey the mandatory law to purchase 4,500,000 ounces per month. The machinations of the banks and the bond holders had created dire distress. There was an linest remedy; and there was a dishonest remed The honest remedy was to restore silve or if that could not be done to utili: the silver in the treasury by issuing silver certificates on it and by issuing enough greenbacks to relieve the dis tress. The dishonest remedy was t pass the repeal bill to scantify the in famous act of 1873 and to fasten a per petual gold standard upon the country It was significant at this time, he said. that the great journals said "vote first. debate afterwards." He notified them that the fort occupied by the defenders of the people never would be surren-dered. The armies of avarice, fraud and deception would have to take it if they could.

The ways and means committee re-sumed its hearings on the tariff. R. W. Leslie appeared in advocacy of the retention of the present specific duty of cents per 100 pounds on imported ce-

The Paris correspondent to the Minerva News seems to have taken exception to our criticism of an article concerning our postoffice. The above referred to correspondent claims we are not posted and therefore arrives at the conclusion that we must be from the rural districts. I am happy to admit that I am from the country and am proud of it. That I am not quite as well posted as to the persons who make a visit here and there on Sunday and through the week as some others are and through the week as some others are who have nothing to do but gossip and take note of such little things that are of no importance to the readers of the DEM-OCRAT I freely admit, yet it is my purpose to let the very few readers of the News know the truth as it is. A simple applica-tion and the making a fight for a thing are two different things. I do claim to be posted as to what is going on in our own party and by the permission of the NEWS-DEMOCRAT I wish to answer another little titem to which my attention was called. The item referred to read as follows: "Some people got just what they voted for last fall." The above was written as a reflection on the Democratic party. We did get what we voted for, viz; a Democratic President and a Democratic Congression both baryeshes and George Claygress in both branches, and Grover Cleve-land thus became the assignee of the de-funct Harrison administration and was compelled to call an extra session of Con-

In brief the panic is over and confidence is beginning to rule and all that is needed for a quick and thorough recovery is that Congress shall remove the one chief cause of distrust with the least possible delay. The crops fairly good and the foreign demand for our products is quite large. The business of the country has stood the strain remarkably well; that is, the monetary stringency, with an extraordinary steadiness which attests its soundness. All that is needed to make prosperity sure is for Congress to give to the country and the world over a completely satisfactory assurance that every dollar of American money is to remain worth a hundred cents. The financial condition is growing brighter day by day, condition is growing brighter day by day, and we will all be supremely happy yet.

Harsh, But---

"Ho," said a well known statesman 'I shall never believe that woman has the proper judgment and sense to cast a ballot, or interfere in politics, while she is so weak-minded as to passively suffer year after year, from diseases peculiar to females, when every news-paper she picks up, tells of the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Not to take advantage of this is certainly an indication of mental weak-ness!"

There is a wholesome kernel of truth inside the rough shell of this ungallant speech. The "Favorite Prescription" is invaluable in all uterine troubles, in: lammations, ulcerations, displace-ments, pervous disorders, prostration, exhaustion, or hysteria. For run-down, worn-out women, no more strengthening tonic or nervine is known.

Report of Nimishillen Township Teachers' Association. LOUISVILLE, Sept. 4, 1893.

The second meeting of the Nimishiller Township Teachers' Association was held at Maple Grove, Saturday evening, Sept. 2nd, and if the increased number of house holders and teachers is a standard by which one can judge, we certainly can expect the institute to be a success. Not only teachers of the township were present but a number of teachers were present that do not reside in the township. Quite a number of names were reported by the soliciting committee which shows that there will not be a few engaged in the work and that the enthusiasm has not abated. Most of the evening was spent in adopting a constitution. The remaining time was improved by the speakers on the regular programme although the time was too limited to permit a lengthy discussion. M, L. Hutt spoke on the subject, "How to make our institute a success."

and was followed by remaks made by J.
L. Coy and W. H. Sluss. W. H. Sluss
then spoke on the subject, "Shall a special music teacher be employed?"
For want of time the remaining portion of the programme was omitted.
